

MCN Privacy Policy

Last Updated Thursday, 13 October 2005

Information collected by the Mendocino Community Network (MCN) from its customers will not be given to any other third parties. MCN will keep information as needed to help with support issues and so that we can contact you as needed regarding the status of your account. We will not sell or share your contact information, or any other information, with anyone else, unless required to do so by a court of law or law enforcement agent, in which case we require a search warrant, subpoena, or other legally binding document or order.